The banditti are said to interrupt his communication, and to make his post-These Nienfei are reported to be collecting large numbers in the provinces of Shantung and Honore, causing infinite calamity to the people and the total annihilation of trade. That they are bandith of a low stamp there is no doubt, but it is very strange how carefully they abstain from giving cause of offence to fereigners. It would certainly seem that they are acquainted with the modes operand purshed by the British towards the Taipings, regarding which insurgents, nothing has been heard since last small—neither have any tidings been minos last mail—neither have any tidings been published relative to the Mahomedan rebels. It would appear likely that complications may nrise between the Imperial Government and the Emperor of the French on the subject of propagan-dism. The latter are probably unreasonable and aggressive on the point-for instance they appropriated to the meely on the whole site of the Governor General's Yamun at Canton and are building theremail its branches, both in English and Chinese upon a large socied estical establishment. It appears that Sir Rutherford Alcock only ment to stop in China for one year. Sir Harry Parket in named as his successor in circles likely to be well informed but Mr. Wede the Chinese Secretary turns to England in the spring, doubtless for t purpose of urging his claim to the post. Mr. Wade is of the Mandarin weshipping achool. Sir Harry Parkes is of the same school as Sir R. Alcock. There appears to be strong grounds for the bollef that a cordial understanding exists between Rutherford Alcock and Mr. Hart, the Inspector General of Customs, who it is well known has great influence with the Mandarins in fact he is admitted to the Councils of Prince Kung. Mr. Hart is well paid and a most faithful servant, He will support the Mandarins in their rights, but not in their pretendens. He knows well that a full ad-mittance and observance of their rights, is the only basis on which permanent and satisfactory foreign relations can rest. Concessions unasked for continue to be made, proving that the necessity of a more enlightened policy is well understood.
